Author Bio:

Clare Voitin is a published author, farmer, organic food grower, expert mulch mover, mother of three boys and now, the founder of Heathcote Gin. As a primary producer and ethical farmer for over 20 years, Clare has always adopted an ethical and sustainable approach to farming and agriculture, striving to protect and respect the land she is privileged to use, and to ensure a more sustainable future in farming is possible for the generations that may follow in her footsteps. From a crazy idea in December 2018, to her first 'very drinkable' gin in early 2019, Clare soon realised that there was so much to learn with gin lovers about the absolute beauty of the world's fastest growing spirit.

That's The Spirit

The Spirit lover's guide to all things gin

By Voitin Clare

Key Sales Points:

* There is no book written quite like this one. * The book was written for people who want to learn more about gin. It has been written to educate and entertain the reader in a relaxed style, that is an easy, but informative read. * It is written in an easy-to-understand style and designed to not only educate but entertain.

Publicity: * Social media campaigns through our own channels, as well as on highly-engaged FB gin platforms, with a collective reach over 200,000 followers. * Planning to launch a crowdfunding campaign for 30 days in the next 2 weeks to garner initial interest. * Also engaging the services of Scott Easthorne, PR specialist.

Unmistakably, gin is in. With global growth close to hitting double digits annually, interest in this spirit is unlikely to slow down anytime soon. Almost 30% of Australians are spirit drinkers, and with new and exciting craft gin brands popping up weekly, this comes as no surprise. But there's more to the world's fastest growing spirit than meets the eye. No longer considered the 'mother's ruin', there's a perfect gin for everyone. The fun is in embarking on your own gin journey and discovering your favourites.

This book teaches you everything you need to know for your own gin journey - beginning with gin's crazy, unexpected origins and travelling through the history of time to the here and now. Covering gin styles, botanicals commonly (and not so commonly) used and the finer details on how to drink your gin, this book very simply shares it all. If you're not already on the 'gin bandwagon', there's never been a better time to start than right now. All you need is an easy afternoon with this book in one hand and a gin in the other - before you know it, you'll be your own gin expert with a wealth of knowledge, a bundle of great cocktail ideas and some clear guidance to discovering your favourite tippie. Clare Voitin's experience in gin began way back, when her long-standing favourite GT ('hold the gin please'), evolved into establishing her own gin brand - 'Heathcote Gin' - and securing one of Australia's biggest liquor retailers as her very first customer before launching the brand.

The Great Ocean Walk

The complete guidebook to Victoria's iconic multiday walk

By Debra Heyes & Julie Mundy

Key Sales Points:

- * First independent guide to the GOW, complementing the official map.
- * Extensive planning notes ensure the reader will be fully prepared for the adventure.
- * Written for campers and day walkers and helps build a variety of multi-day itineraries.
- * Also contains much Information on the local history, environment and wildlife.

Victoria's multi-day Great Ocean Walk covers 100 kilometres of spectacular scenery and varied hiking from Apollo Bay, around the famous Cape Otway and through to the world famous Twelve Apostles. The route follows the Shipwreck Coast, beside the wild Southern Ocean, as it takes in remote beaches, breathtaking views at every turn, unbridged river crossings, coastal heathlands, towering forests and peaceful rainforest gullies. This book is richly illustrated with full-colour photographs and detailed maps for each section. As well as extensive planning notes, there are detailed walk notes for each of the 8 official days walks, tailored for both day walkers and campers, and optional itineraries for 4-9 days, with flexible 'build your own walk' options. The book also contains much Information on the local history, environment and wildlife.

Author Bio:

Deb Heyes and Julie Mundy have been keen walkers their whole lives, and have been walking together for nearly 15 years, including a wild and wonderful adventure to Patagonia. This is Julie's sixth and Deb's third walking guidebook for Woodslane Press, and researching, walking and writing them is both full on and wonderful. They have walked the GOW several times over the years but found walking it once more to write this guide was as pleasurable an experience as ever.

The Inner History of the Kelly Gang

By Kenneally J.J.

Key Sales Points:

- * Highly regarded insider's view of the Kelly Episode.
- * Out of print for 40 years.
- * Fully illustrated.

It is Mr Kenneally's claim that no unpartisan history of the Kelly episode has hitherto been published.

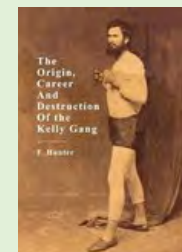

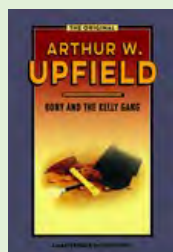

In his opinion the Kelly's were badly treated and their bushranging crimes were the result of unjust persecution on the part of the police.

Reading his book, it must be admitted that he makes a strong case.

Most of his evidence is drawn from official sources – police evidence – showing the conduct of the constables and their immediate superiors in a very poor light.

His facts are ably presented, and the book is well illustrated with portraits of some of the chief actors and scenes from the surrounding country.

NED KELLY TITLES AVAILABLE FROM ETT IMPRINT:

The Melbourne Herald, 1929. I have read your book with a great deal of satisfaction, and I must congratulate you on having rendered a great service in the cause of Truth and Justice... You are the only author who has the courage to do justice to the Kelly Gang; you have liberated the truth, so long suppressed, regarding the policy and administration of the police; through your book the people of Australia are now in full possession of the truth... Author Bio:

Mike Edison is the former editor and publisher of High Times magazine. Edison is also a noted musician who spent much of the 1980s and 90s seeing the world from behind a drum set, opening for bands as diverse as Sonic Youth, Sound Garden, and the Ramones. He has written extensive liner notes for, among others, Iggy Pop, and the Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, and has contributed to numerous magazines and websites, including Huffington Post, the Daily Beast, the New York Observer, Spin (writing about the Rolling Stones), Interview, and New York Press, for which he covered classical music and professional wrestling. He speaks frequently on free speech, sex, drugs, and the American counterculture. Edison lives and works in Brooklyn, NY.

Sympathy for the Drummer

Why Charlie Watts Matters

By Edison Mike

Sympathy for the Drummer: Why Charlie Watts Matters is both a gonzo rush-capturing the bristling energy of the Rolling Stones and the times in which they lived-and a wide-eyed reflection on why the Greatest Rock 'n' Roll Band in the World needed the world's greatest rock 'n' roll drummer.

Across five decades, Rolling Stones drummer Charlie Watts has had the best seat in the house. Charlie Watts, the anti-rock star-an urbane jazz fan with a dry wit and little taste for the limelight-was witness to the most savage years in rock history, and emerged a hero, a warrior poet. With his easy swing and often loping, uneven fills, he found nuance in a music that often had little room for it, and along with his greatest ally, Keith Richards, he gave the Stones their swaggering beat. While others battled their drums, Charlie played his modest kit with finesse and humility, and yet his relentless grooves on the nastiest hard-rock numbers of the era ("Gimme Shelter," "Street Fighting Man," "Brown Sugar," "Jumpin' Jack Flash," etc.) delivered a dangerous authenticity to a band that on their best nights should have been put in jail.

Author Mike Edison, himself a notorious raconteur and accomplished drummer, tells a tale of respect and satisfaction that goes far beyond drums, drumming, and the Rolling Stones, ripping apart the history of rock'n'roll, and celebrating sixty years of cultural upheaval. He tears the sheets off the myths of music making, shredding the phonies and the frauds, and unifies the frayed edges of disco, punk, blues, country, soul, jazz, and RB-the soundtrack of our lives.

Highly opinionated, fearless, and often hilarious, Sympathy is as an unexpected treat for music fans and pop culture mavens, as edgy and ribald as the Rolling Stones at their finest, never losing sight of the sex and magic that puts the roll in the rock -the beat, that crazy beat!-and the man who drove the band, their true engine, the utterly irreplaceable Charlie Watts.

Pink Floyd - Live

Collected

By James Alison

Pink Floyd Live Collected provides an insight into the unique live concert journey of one of the most ground-breaking and influential bands of all time.

Follow the band from when they formed as students in Cambridge in 1965 and consisted of Syd Barrett, Nick Mason, Roger Waters, and Richard Wright, with Dave Gilmour joining in 1967.

Syd Barrett left in 1968 but remains synonymous with the group. Pink Floyd rose to become commercially successful, musically influential, and known for some of the greatest live shows in the history of popular music.

We go backstage with Pink Floyd in detail telling the stories behind their incredible success from the stadium gigs to the recording sessions that made some of the world's best-selling rock albums.

The book covers all their major tours including The Dark Side of the Moon, The Wall, The Division Bell, Momentary Lapse of Reason, and more. With travel schedules, setlists, and amazing statistics.

Author Bio:

Alison James is a journalist who writes about royals and celebrities for the Daily Mail, the Daily Express, and Yours magazine. Alison has also written biographies of Iron Maiden, Queen and other major rock bands.

Metallica

The $24.95 Book

By Apatoff Ben

Metallica: The $24.95 Book features an in-depth look at Metallica's cultural significance with chapters devoted to each member, each album, touring, fashion, books, film, influences, fandom, and more, exploring the band's politics and religion along the way.

With over 125 million records sold worldwide, Metallica is the biggest metal band of all time. Four decades into their unparalleled career, Metallica is a massive cultural force who drastically changed the sound of popular music by creating their own rules. Yet for all their popularity, Metallica can seem impenetrable.

They've built the unexpected into their music and career, raising more questions and inspiring more discourse as their mythos grows.

Metallica questions run deeper than what people find on the internet. Metallica questions deserve a book.

Metallica, by dedicated fan and music journalist Ben Apatoff (including a foreword by What Are You Doing Here? author Laina Dawes), is that book, honouring Metallica's history of fighting retail price gouging in the title.

Metallica provides an in-depth look at the band and their music that both die-hard fans and Metallica beginners can enjoy.

Author Bio:

Ben Apatoff is a New York writer and educator whose work has appeared in Metal Injection, MetalSucks, and the Morbid Anatomy Museum. He was born the summer Metallica released Kill 'Em All.

Drugs without the Hot Air 2/e

Making Sense of Legal and Illegal Drugs

By Nutt David

The dangers of illegal drugs are well known and rarely disputed, but how harmful are alcohol and tobacco by comparison?

What are we missing by banning medical research into magic mushrooms, LSD and cannabis?

Can they be sources of valuable treatments?

The second edition of Drugs without the Hot Air looks at the science to allow anyone to make rational decisions based on objective evidence, asking:

- *What is addiction? Is there an addictive personality?
- *What is the role of cannabis in treating epilepsy?
- *How harmful is vaping?
- *How can psychedelics treat depression?
- *Where is the opioid crisis taking us?

Golden Years of the National Symphony Orchestra

Stories and Photographs of Musicians and Maestros

By Haroutounian Joanne

Golden Years of the National Symphony Orchestra: Stories and Photographs of Musicians and Maestros presents a rich and intimate perspective of the orchestra as it evolved in prominence and international expanse throughout the last 50 years.

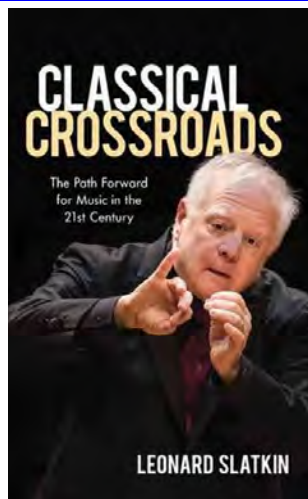

Through hundreds of stunning photographs shot by NSO violinist William Haroutounian, the tenure of seven NSO conductors, major guest artists, and NSO members are brought to life, giving a rare and exciting glimpse of musical life on stage, backstage, and on tour.

Alongside these photographs are experiences from the members themselves, pieced together by Joanne Haroutounian. Humorous stories of mishaps during rehearsals and performances balance with some of the most historically significant moments in classical music history—from Mstislav Rostropovich's return to Russia with the NSO and sheer excitement of the mobs to the sudden death of Gina Bachauer minutes before she was scheduled to perform in Athens.

The book memorializes this rich and varied history and will enrich an appreciation for concert life.

Classical Crossroads

The Path Forward for Music in the 21st Century

By Slatkin Leonard

Legendary maestro Leonard Slatkin provides personal insights and offers his ideas to solve the current dilemmas of classical music.

As the new millennium poses some of the greatest challenges to the relevance of the art form, Slatkin reflects on the modern evolution of classical music and presents ways for both music lovers and musicians alike to navigate these uncertain times. Classical Crossroads: The Path Forward for Music in the 21st-Century addresses a wide range of relevant and provocative topics such as performance in the era of COVID-19, shrinking audiences, the lack of classical music in public education, broken audition systems, technology replacing live concerts, and the lack of diversity in the classical music world. While the new millennium has provided great obstacles, Slatkin emphasizes that there are also new opportunities—if there was ever a time for change in classical music, that time is now.

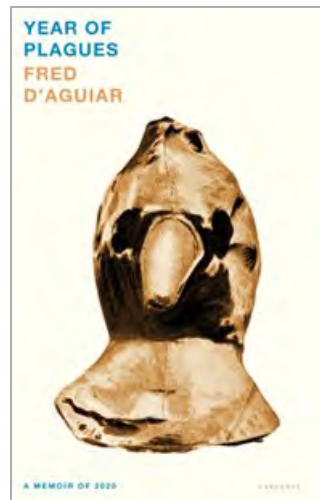

Internationally acclaimed conductor Slatkin is music director laureate of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, directeur musical honoraire of the Orchestre National de Lyon, and conductor laureate of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Year of Plagues

A Memoir of 2020

By D'Aguiar Fred

In this piercing and unforgettable memoir, the award-winning poet reflects on a year of turbulence, fear and hope. For acclaimed British-Guyanese writer Fred D'Aguiar, 2020 was a year of personal and global crisis. The world around him was shattered by the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic, Black Lives Matter protests erupted across the United States, California burned, and D'Aguiar was diagnosed with stage-4 cancer.

Year of Plagues is an intimate, multifaceted exploration of these seismic events, which trouble and alienate D'Aguiar from community, place and body. Combining personal reminiscence and philosophy, drawing on music and on poetry, D'Aguiar confronts profound questions about the purpose of pursuing a life of writing and teaching in the face of overwhelming upheavals; the imaginative and artistic strategies a writer can bring to bear as his sense of self and community are severely tested; and the quest for strength and solace necessary to help forge a better future. In his first work of non-fiction, D'Aguiar subverts the traditional memoir with highly charged language that shifts from the quotidian to the lyrical, from the personal to the metaphysical. Both tender and ferocious, Year of Plagues is a harrowing yet uplifting genre-bending memoir of existence, protest, and survival.

Deer on the High Hills

Selected Poems

By Smith Iain Crichton

Growing up on the Isle of Lewis, Iain Crichton Smith spoke only Gaelic until he was five.

But at school in Bayble and then Stornoway, everything had to be in English.

Like many islanders before and since, his culture is divided: two languages, two histories entailing exile, a central theme of his poetry.

His divided perspective sharply delineates the tyranny of history and religion, of the cramped life of small communities; it gives him a tender eye for the struggle of women and men in a world defined by denials.

Deer on the High Hills: Selected Poems includes forty years' work and proves that big themes - love, history, power, submission, death - can be addressed without the foil of irony and acquire resonance when given a local habitation and a voice that risks pure, impassioned speech.

Editor John Greening provides indexes, a preface and an essay on the life and work of this important poet.

The Owner of the Sea

Price Richard

In re-telling the Inuit stories included here, Richard Price opens out remarkable northern vistas and unfamiliar narratives, strange gods and unforgettable characters. Carol Rumens described Price as a poet who is brilliant quietly: inventive, sometimes dazzling, but never merely showy: precisely the talents for rendering, rather than appropriating these great story-cycles of Inuit culture. Here we learn of Sedna the Sea Goddess and Kiviug the Hunter, the central protagonists of the book's remarkable stories. They are rich in extraordinary incident. In Sedna's world women can marry dogs and have half-puppy, half-human children; birds beat their wings so hard they call down a storm on a fugitive kayak; walrus originate from... well that would be telling. Each story-cycle abounds in natural wonder, celebrating our creaturely relations with our fellow inhabitants of land and sea.

Take us the Little Foxes

Burrows Miles

The poetry of Miles Burrows was discovered in 1966 when Tom Maschler, already an editor at Cape, heard him give a public reading in London. Cape published him. After that, Burrows continued his life in many walks, most of them medical. Having studied Greats at Oxford, he determined to become an intellectual and learned to smoke black Russian cigarettes, reviewing occasionally for the New Statesman. This Collected Poems is a rich harvest from the decades between 1966 and 2021. The poems are primarily conversational. The poet is keen to get into exclusive places he has no right to be – clubs, social strata, religions. Much of the adventure, the disrupted narrative, has to do with being out of place. Its long narratives – work as a trawlerman in Iceland, a traditional funeral in Taiwan – open on worlds that are made vertiginously real.

Midnight in the Kant Hotel

Mengham Rod

Midnight in the Kant Hotel is an absorbing account of contemporary art, composed over twenty years. The essays revisit the same artists as they develop, following them in time, changing perspectives as he, and they, develop. Mengham is a significant curator, organising exhibitions: There is no more productive engagement with someone else's artworks than finding the right way to show it, since artworks are always direct statements or questions about articulations of space, and the curator's job obviously is to enhance such questions and statements. This discipline gives the writer a series of uniquely privileged perspectives, touching, lifting, moving and re-moving the objects: nothing compares to living with art. The book opens with themes: what is domestic space? what does the atrocity exhibition tell us? what is the refugee aesthetic? Essays on artists follow, including Marc Atkins, Stephen Chambers, Jake and Dinos Chapman, Tony Cragg, Antony Gormley, Damien Hirst, Ilya and Emilia Kabakov, Anselm Kiefer, Laura Owens, Doris Salcedo, Agnes Thurnauer, Koen Vanmechelen and Alison Wilding. Always, he is in dialogue with the work, rather than with the artist.

Williams Ron

This is the first of the 1940s and the second book overall to be released in a series of 32 about life in Australia – one for each year from 1939 to 1970. They describe happenings that affected people, real people. The whole series, to coin a modern phrase, is designed to push your buttons, to make you remember and wonder at things forgotten. The books might just let nostalgia see the light of day, so that oldies and youngies will talk about the past and re-discover a heritage otherwise forgotten. Hopefully, they will spark discussions between generations, and foster the asking and answering of questions that should not remain unanswered. In 1940, the Brits thought the War would be a picnic. But they changed their mind after military disasters in Norway, Belgium and Tobruk. German subs were filling the Channel with British shipping, and the Frogs stopped hopping. Then the Hun parked their planes full-time over London and Blitzed it. But, against all odds, the Poms survived. In Oz, the first Menzies Government rationed food, clothing, petrol, smokes and shirt tails.

Michael Howe

Mackaness George

In 1818, Thomas Wells wrote the first work of general literature published in Australia, describing the life of British highwayman, convicted to Van Diemen's Land; the bushranger Michael Howe (1787-1818). Howe and his gang plundered the New Norfolk and other early settled areas in Tasmania. Also included in this volume - Van Diemen's Land Warriors, the first verse published in Tasmania in 1827. This satire on the military forces for their failure to put an end to bushranging was suppressed by Government Order, and all copies burnt, except one. Both volumes were originally republished by historian, George Mackaness, who also introduces and contributes an essay on Mathew Brady (1799 – 1826) – not the first but the last of the Tasmanian bushrangers.

The Opium Smugglers

Idriess Ion

When Dick and "jack Idriess went aboard the Nancy Bell at Cooktown – they thought they were signing on for a trochus-fishing expedition, would earn some money, and go back to gold prospecting. Cross-eyed Joe, a wily Filipino skipper was after something more valuable than trochus. With the appearance of the Japanese manned black lugger the boys find themselves in strategies, schemes and escapes against the vivid background of Lizard Island and the waters of the Great Barrier Reef. First published in 1948, The Opium Smugglers is entirely based on his travels with mate Dick Welch along the Queensland coast prior to World War 1.

Martin Luther King

A Religious Life

By Harvey Paul

In the first biography of Martin Luther King to look at his life through the prism of his evolving faith, distinguished historian Paul Harvey examines Martin Luther King's life through his complex, emerging, religious lives.

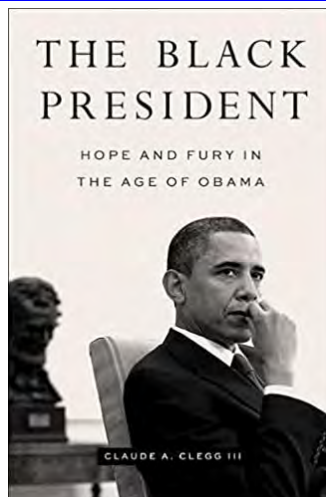

Harvey will introduce many readers, perhaps for the first or only time, to the King of diverse religious and intellectual influences, of an increasingly radical cast of thought, and of a melange of intellectual influences that he aligned in becoming the spokesperson for the most important social movement of twentieth-century American history.

Not only does Harvey chronicle King's metamorphosis and its impact on American and African American life, but he seeks to explain his "afterlives"-how in American culture King became transformed into a mainstream civil saint, shorn of his radical religious critique of how power functioned in America.

Harvey's concise biography will allow readers to see King anew in the context of his time and today.

The Black President

Hope and Fury in the Age of Obama

By Claude A. Clegg III

In The Black President, the first interpretative, grand-narrative history of Barack Obama's presidency in its entirety, Claude A. Clegg III situates the former president in his dynamic, inspirational, yet contentious political context. He captures the America that made Obama's White House years possible, while insightfully rendering the America that resolutely resisted the idea of a Black chief executive. In Obama's own words, his White House years were "the best of times and worst of times" for Black America. Clegg is vitally concerned with the veracity of this claim, along with how Obama engaged the aspirations, struggles, and disappointments of his most loyal constituency and how representative segments of Black America engaged, experienced, and interpreted his historic presidency. Clegg draws on an expansive archive of materials, including government records and reports, interviews, speeches, memoirs, and insider accounts, to examine Obama's complicated upbringing and early political ambitions, the inspired but also carefully choreographed symbolism of his presidency (and Michelle Obama's role). Combining lively prose with a balanced, nonpartisan portrait of Obama's successes and failures, The Black President will be required reading not only for historians, politics junkies, and Obama fans but also for anyone seeking to understand America's contemporary struggles with inequality, prejudice, and fear.

Skalski Against All Odds

Grabowski Franciszek

Skalski Against all Odds provides a gripping and detailed account of the career of General Stanislaw Skalski, VM & bar, KW & 3bars, DSO, DFC & 2bars, the leading Polish fighter ace. Skalski gallantly served from the first day of the Second World War, becoming the first ace of the conflict, and continued his service through the Battle of Britain, Channel offensive, Tunisian & Italian campaigns, and Normandy landings. He finished the war on staff positions. Returning to communist Poland, he was duly arrested on charges of spying on behalf of Great Britain and sentenced to death. He was not executed, and after spending eight years in prison, he re-joined service, to fly MiG-15 jet fighters. He continued his service at non-flying positions, and following retirement, he was involved in popularizing aviation as well as in politics. The story is based on several documents, many of them published here for the first time and in most cases previously unavailable to the English reader.

One Hundred and Sixty Minutes

Hazelgrove William

One hundred and sixty minutes. That is all the time rescuers would have before the largest ship in the world slipped beneath the icy Atlantic. There was amazing heroism and astounding incompetence against the backdrop of the most advanced ship in history sinking by inches with luminaries from all over the world. It is a story of a network of wireless operators on land and sea who desperately sent messages back and forth across the dark frozen North Atlantic to mount a rescue mission. More than twenty-eight ships would be involved in the rescue of Titanic survivors along with four different countries. At the heart of the rescue are two young Marconi operators, Jack Phillips 25 and Harold Bride 22, tapping furiously and sending electromagnetic waves into the black night as the room they sat in slanted toward the icy depths and not stopping until the bone numbing water was around their ankles.

Flashpoint

Catsam Derek Charles

Forty years ago, a South African rugby tour in the United States became a crucial turning point for the nation's burgeoning protests apartheid and a test of American foreign policy. In Flashpoint: How a Little-Known Sporting Event Fuelled America's Anti-Apartheid Movement, Derek Charles Catsam tells the fascinating story of the Springbok's 1981 US tour and its impact on the country's anti-apartheid struggle. The US lagged well behind the rest of the Western world when it came to addressing the vexing question of South Africa's racial policies, but the rugby tour changed all that. Those who had been a part of the country's tiny anti-apartheid struggle for decades used the visit from one of white South Africa's most cherished institutions to mobilize against both apartheid sport and the South African regime more broadly. Protestors met the South African team at airports, chanted outside their hotels, and courted arrests at matches, which ranged from the bizarre to the laughable, with organizers going to incredible lengths to keep their locations secret.

Abandoned Lebanon

By Kerwin James

This outstanding photographic report aims to draw attention to the often dramatic fate of Lebanon's abandoned heritage and its frequently forgotten beauty. The locations featured all have their own stories to tell, in a variety of voices, but with one shared theme: the fall from grace. Beautiful yet haunting photographs of abandoned places in Lebanon - once thriving buildings now ravaged by nature and time are the subject of this fascinating, coffee table photo book.

Lebanon is a country that still holds many secrets of what life was like there prior to the civil war, and more recently the Beirut port blast. Inside, we discover ruins, deserted buildings, and glamorous architecture all tucked away from the public eye. These include the abandoned mansion of a former prime minister, one of the most remarkable buildings in Zokak el-Blat, Beirut, a once glorious hotel now bearing its war wounds, a 17th-century palace in Deir El Qamar, and a stunning yet unfinished passion project, where each arch of the structure reflects a different civilisation. Award-winning photographer James Kerwin's love affair with Lebanon started in 2017 when he began his research into locating interesting, unique, and abandoned architecture. That relationship grew stronger when he finally set foot in the country for the first time in 2019 and began uncovering these architectural delights.

Abandoned USSR

By Abela Terence

An outstanding photographic report that aims to draw attention to the often dramatic fate of a country's abandoned heritage and its frequently forgotten beauty. The locations featured all have their own stories to tell, in a variety of voices, but with one shared theme: the fall from grace.

Beautiful, haunting photographs of abandoned places in the USSR. Once thriving buildings now ravaged by nature and time are the subject of this fascinating, coffee-table book. Relics of the Soviet conquest of space, Moscow Pioneer camps, remnants of propaganda along a journey sparsely dotted with statues of Stalin or Lenin, from traditional Moldovan houses to ghosts of the Caucasian wars, by way of petro-chemical factories in the Donbass ... this report invites the reader to relive, through its striking pictures, more than a hundred years of history, from the beginnings of the Soviet period to the legacy of a communist era now fast fading from memory. Terence Abela has spent nine years travelling across the former USSR unearthing fragments from its past. His love of history, of photographing relics of the past and discovering the unknown, have combined to create this work. Driven by a desire to preserve the heritage abandoned by states that lurch between the threat of nationalism, dictatorship, wars and the will to invent a new history for themselves, he appeals to us through his pictures to protect these mementos which are at risk of disappearing in the not too-distant future.

Mastering Chess Logic

Sheng Joshua

What exactly makes the greatest players of all-time, such as Magnus Carlsen, Bobby Fischer and Garry Kasparov so different from the also-rans? The basic aspects of chess (calculation, understanding of opening theory and technical endgame ability) are of course of great importance. However, the more mysterious aspect of chess ability lies within the thought processes. In particular: * How does one evaluate certain moves to be better than others? * How does one improve their feel of the game? This work will tackle this woefully under-explored aspect of chess: the logic behind the game. This book will explain how chess works at a basic level. Topics include: * What to think about when evaluating a position. * How to generate and make use of the initiative. * How to formulate and execute plans. The reader also has plenty of opportunities to test their understanding by attempting 270 puzzles. These are mostly designed to develop understanding, as the justification of the moves is more important than the actual correct answer.

Grandmaster Gambits: 1 e4

Palliser Richard

Are you bored with playing it safe in the opening? Had enough of developing your pieces sensibly, aiming to control the centre and getting your king castled? Do you yearn to tear the opposition apart in the style of the great 19th century masters? Then Grandmaster Gambits 1 e4 is the book for you! The highly successful writing duo of Richard Palliser and Simon (GingerGM) Williams have teamed up again to create a repertoire based on jettisoning a pawn (and often a whole lot more) very early on. Whatever opening your opponent favours against 1 e4, the authors have a dynamic gambiteering counter which will throw them onto their own resources. * The Sicilian Defence? Attack it with the Wing Gambit. * 1...e5? Tear Black apart with the Max Lange Attack. * The French? Suffocate Black with the Advance Variation including Magnus Carlsen's souped-up version of the Milner-Barry Gambit. * The Caro-Kann? Play the Hillbilly Attack with 2 Bc4!

Ian Nepomniachtchi: Move by Move

Lakdawala Cyrus

Ian Nepomniachtchi, challenger to Magnus Carlsen's World Championship title in 2021, is an outstanding chess talent. "Nepo" as he is universally known is a fascinating player and this book assesses his career and analyses his original and creative style in great depth with numerous deeply annotated games. Nepo is one of the very few players in the world to hold (at least prior to the match) a plus score (four wins to one with six draws) against Carlsen in classical chess. Nepo and Carlsen are peers and first started playing each other in the Under-12 category of the World Youth Championship in 2002. In that event, Nepo edged out Carlsen on tie-break. At that time, he out-rated Carlsen by 100 points and was generally considered to be the more promising of the two prodigies. Nepo is a fascinating player who loves open and irrational positions and excels when on the attack. Unsurprisingly, he cites Mikhail Tal as his all-time favourite player and says Tal is the player who has exerted the greatest influence on him.

The Fermentation Kitchen

Recipes for the Craft Beer Lover's Pantry

By Toth Gabe

Fermented foods are experiencing a resurgence in popularity due to their bold flavours and purported health benefits. Brewer and distiller Gabe Toth has dedicated 15 years to learning and experimenting with the fundamentals of fermented vegetables, condiments, sausage, dairy, meat, bread, vinegar, kombucha, and other live-culture foods. In The Fermentation Kitchen, he distills the essential lessons into easy to follow information that is both technical and practical. Part how-to guide, part cookbook, and part reference manual, The Fermentation Kitchen is a wide-ranging introduction to fermentation for brewers, food enthusiasts, and home fermentations, who want to go beyond just recipes to understand what's happening as their food is transformed. Enough chemistry and microbiology are included to provide a thorough understanding of what's happening during food transformation which, when paired with a focus on methods and recipes to illustrate techniques, will allow the reader to explore fermentation with greater creativity.

The overarching aim of The Fermentation Kitchen is to provide readers with the tools they need to improvise and adapt their new knowledge to safely create novel flavours and unique fermented foods that reflect their own creativity, using beer when possible.

The Greatest Hunting Dog Stories Ever Told

Underwood Lamar

All dogs live forever in the hearts of their owners. But hunting dogs take that love to ultimate dimensions of affection. The dogs and their owners have worked together to obtain skills and understanding of the outdoor world where they thrive. Diversity reigns in this world. There are pointing breeds, retrievers, hounds. There are many hunting dog cemeteries, and field trial halls of fame. For many hunters, the work of the dog in the field is the real purpose of the hunt. The simple pursuit of a gamebird or animal is not the purpose of going afield. The dog work-the radar-nosed probing of cover, the searching gait to check out fields, the retrieving of downed birds-moments spent in these elements are the real reason hunters have bonded with their dogs. The stories here are real accounts of hunting dogs in action.

The Prepper's Guide to Surviving Pandemics, Bioterrorism, and Infectious Disease

Forgey William W.

The pandemic caused by SARS-CoV-2 has changed how we live our lives, and most likely will do so for years to come. While not exclusively about SARS-CoV-2, The Prepper's Guide to Surviving Pandemics, Bioterrorism, and Infectious Disease covers the subject thoroughly and delves into the massive controversy concerning herd immunity, which vaccines are the most likely to work, the issue of second wave or resurgence caused by school re-openings and other activities, changes in public policy, and numerous other topics.

Inkwell

Simple Writing Practices to Restore Your Soul

By Whitney Anne Elrod

Tired. Uninspired. Emotionally exhausted. Overwhelmed. Burned out. In a world where the pace seems to get faster and the problems seem intractable, more and more people feel they just can't go on as they have been doing.

The truth is, we're much better at caring for our bodies than caring for our spirits. In Inkwell, writing instructor and professor Anne Whitney shows how writing--informal, low-stakes writing, in just a few minutes a day--can be a powerful tool for your spiritual self-care.

While many people are intimidated by writing or remember writing from their school days as difficult or scary, this book offers practical, meaningful writing tools that anyone, regardless of writing experience, education, or training, can use to grow closer to God and heal spiritual wounds.

In writing activities that range from quick jottings to more extended narratives, from drawing to analysing what you've written, you'll cultivate mindful attention, helping you to settle down, feel your feelings, and centre on what is most important to you rather than on what feels most urgent.

Breath Prayer

An Ancient Practice for the Everyday Sacred

By Paintner Christine Valters

Whether reciting the gathas in Buddhist practice, the Shema in Judaism, or the Jesus Prayer in Christianity, for centuries the practice of breath prayer has helped center people from a variety of faith traditions on the sacred in everyday life. Through brief words of prayer or petition said silently to the rhythm of one's breath, this simple, meditative act combines praise for the divine with focused intention, creating a profound spiritual connection in the quiet, and even mundane, moments of the day.

In Breath Prayer, Christine Valters Paintner, online abbess of Abbey of the Arts, introduces us to this spiritual practice and offers beautiful poem-prayers for walking, working, dressing, cleaning, sitting in silence, doing the dishes, living in community--breathing the divine into our daily lives. Over time these recitations become as natural as breathing. We don't so much recite the prayers as the prayers recite us, guide us, and open our hearts to the everyday sacred. With each of the forty prayers, Paintner includes reflections on life's ordinary beauty and heartfelt advice for discovering the sacred all around. Breath Prayer concludes with guidance for creating your own breath prayers to deepen your practice.

Physical Education and Movement in Waldorf Schools

Edited by Gerlinde Idler and Lutz Gerding

Author Bio:

Gerlinde Idler has been a teacher of physical education in Waldorf schools for over twenty years, including at the Vienna Mauer Waldorf school where she founded a school circus. She is a lecturer in Waldorf education at the Kassel Teacher Training College in Germany, where she helps people from other professions train to become physical education teachers, and a guest lecturer at Waldorf teacher training courses around the world. She holds a master's degree in sociology, educational and political science as well as in Bothmer Movement and spatial dynamics. Lutz Gerding began his teaching career at the Waldorf school in Bremen. After further training in adult education, he became a tutor at Kassel Teacher Training College in Germany helping people from other professions train to become physical education teachers. He is currently a lecturer and coordinator for teacher training in China.

Physical Education and Movement in Waldorf Schools

By Idler Gerlinde

The Waldorf school curriculum was developed to nurture the healthy development of the child, not only in mind but in body and spirit as well. Physical education and movement form an integral part of this holistic approach, encouraging children to be active not just for the sake of activity, but to experience themselves through meaningful movement and to form a stronger connection with the world around them. This indispensable book for teachers -- the most comprehensive of its kind available in English -- provides a wealth of practical insights on teaching physical education and movement in Waldorf Schools.

It includes:

- * Practical suggestions for games and exercises to teach a range of activities such as athletics, archery, climbing, gymnastics, dance, swimming and sailing.
- * Over thirty sample lessons providing inspiration and quick, easy reference for activities for Classes 1-12.
- * Exercises designed to suit different developmental stages: from simple, storytelling games for young children to more complex, demanding exercises for older pupils.
- * Essays from teachers with decades of experience, exploring the value of physical education in Waldorf schools and how its emphasis on individual progress and co-operation over competition helps build pupils' confidence and self-belief.
- * Suggestions of which Bothmer Movement exercises are best suited for different classes, based on an awareness of the laws of movement that underpin each age group.
- * Practical advice on how teachers can adapt content covered in other subjects to create a more unified learning experience for pupils -- for example, organising their own Olympic Games to complement teaching about ancient Greece in history lessons.
- * 250 inspiring colour photographs illustrating a variety of activities.

This is an invaluable resource that provides both a wealth of practical ideas and a thoughtful consideration of physical education and movement that will give Steiner-Waldorf teachers confidence in preparing and delivering lessons.

Eurythmy and Rudolf Steiner

Origins and Developments 1912-39

By Tatiana Kisseleff & Dorothea Mier

In the autumn of 1912, Rudolf Steiner presented the first eurythmy performance. It marked the revival, in modern form, of the sacred art of dance, which had been used in the ancient Mysteries to express the movements of the stars and the planets.

In the years that followed, Steiner and his wife, Marie von Sivers, developed eurythmy further, broadening it beyond the artistic to encompass healing and educational elements as well.

One of the pioneers of this new form of movement was the Russian anthroposophist Tatiana Kisseleff, who became a student of Steiners and later a celebrated eurythmy teacher.

In this remarkable book, available for the first time in English, Kisseleff describes the spiritual foundations of eurythmy as they were explored in Steiners lectures and recounts the instruction she received from him.

This is both an eyewitness account of the origins of eurythmy and a record of a deeply personal journey of one person's efforts to master it.

Author Bio:

Tatiana Kisseleff (1881-1970) was born in Warsaw, Poland to Russian parents. She studied law in France and later went to live in Moscow where she met and married the painter Nikolai Kisseleff. The couple became interested in Theosophy, and in 1911 Tatiana met Rudolf Steiner and Marie von Sivers in Hanover, Germany. Although Tatanas interests lay in social work, Steiner directed her to the art of eurythmy and took her on as a personal student. She studied eurythmy in Berlin before being invited to Dornach in 1914 to teach eurythmy. The rest of her life was devoted to the practice and teaching of eurythmy. Dorothea Mier was director of Eurythmy Spring Valley, USA, from 1980 to 2005, following many years as a member of the Goetheanum stage group under the direction of Marie Savitch. She is currently active teaching workshops in the US and abroad.

The book is illustrated throughout with photographs, drawings, facsimile reproductions from notebooks and posters advertising early eurythmy performances, alongside accounts of performances of various pieces including Goethes Faust and Rudolf Steiners own Mystery Dramas.

This is a fascinating account for eurythmists and anyone who wants to delve more deeply into eurythmys history and development.

SALES POINTS:

- A richly illustrated tribute to a pioneer of Australian entertainment whose amazing exploits captivated a nation.
- Pre-launch publicity campaign directed by Dianna O'Neill, who did the publicity for Test captain Steve Waugh's book, The Spirit of Cricket – India.
- Co-author Glenn T., a confidant of Smoky and Dot Dawson, has a storehouse of insider anecdotes to share in media interviews.
- Online marketing will feed off a dedicated website, Facebook, and extensive social media support.
- Smoky Dawson songs and visual material will be packaged for website promotion.

The inspirational story of the great Smoky Dawson, a true-blue icon, is celebrated in this lavish new publication honouring the legacy of Australia's most versatile showman.

This coffee table book combines Smoky's own autobiography released 36 years ago with a deeply researched new chapter: a biography that covers the period 1985 almost to the present day, modernising his legendary status and cultural imprint as an entertainment trailblazer. The book is packed with facts and anecdotes, insights and memories, plus a treasure trove of more than 200 historical and contemporary photographs and rare illustrations – some never seen before – including exclusive artworks by Smoky's great mate and collaborator, the late Pro Hart. It also includes a collection of tributes from famous entertainers such as Jimmy Barnes, his friend and one-time duet partner, who says on the cover: "Smoky never stopped entertaining us until the day he died."

In his absorbing autobiography, Smoky chronicled his rise to fame after enduring the trauma of an unbelievably cruel childhood, being sent away to an orphanage, struggling to survive through the Great Depression – and the love he went on to share for six decades with the rock of his existence, the indefatigable Dot, his wife, soul mate, adviser and canny manager.

Now, in this new book, the reproduction of his own words is enhanced by the addition of The Final Round-Up, a biographical chapter that brims with reminiscence and previously unpublished insights into Smoky's private and professional life, and underscores the affection and respect that embraced him from his peers and the admiring public alike. It delves into the twilight time of the entertainment legend who remained active in country music right to the end – a fitting finale for a cherished performer and character who epitomised the absolute best qualities of the Australian spirit.

Royalties will go to Bear Cottage, the only hospice in New South Wales for children, and the Smoky Dawson Foundation. Smoky and Dot were tireless ambassadors for Bear Cottage, and the Smoky Dawson Foundation provides grants, awards and scholarships to the music industry, as well as assisting young people generally, not just in entertainment.

Author Biography:

Glenn T., author of The Final Round-Up, is a playwright, actor, published writer and award-winning production designer who was Smoky and Dot's confidant and loyal companion in their later years. It has been a project of dedicated research and passion for Glenn to pay tribute to the Dawsons in this updated edition of Smoky's memoir.

Smoky Dawson was a pivotal figure in the development of the country music industry in Australia who earned hero status in his unflagging commitment to the famous Tamworth Country Music Festival over decades of involvement into his nineties.

Still Stace

Chomiak Stacey

Is it possible to be gay and Christian? Stacey loves being a Christian. Her best friends are also her church friends. Her favourite place on earth is Bible camp every summer. And she talks to God like they are old friends. But one summer, she meets a girl who turns everything upside down. Is this feeling she has for her more than just friendship? Could it be a crush? Filled with dread, Stacey embarks on a journey to discover what it means to be gay, whether it is possible to change, and how to reconcile her identity with her faith. Will it even be possible? In this young-adult illustrated memoir, Stacey Chomiak tells the true story of her teenage and young-adult years: of heartbreak, family conflict, trying to become ex-gay, wrestling with her faith, and finding love. Uncovering happiness and joy while surrounded by the loneliness of a world that actively excludes her seems insurmountable. Until she learns to love her full self. Then the possibility of being both gay and Christian seems not just possible, but the best answer of all.

Postpartum Life Mum To Mum. The Sweet, The Awkward, The Perplexing

By Tori Bowman Johnson and Illust. by Catherine Malady

Key Sales Points:

- * Elyse Knowles has quoted it as an essential postpartum read.
- * Featured on Beyond The Bump Podcast.
- * Listed on Georgia Flowers Must Have Baby Preparation List.

Whilst a newborn brings so much joy ... it is no secret that a Mumma's life becomes a surreal hybrid of wild wonder WTF! moments. Looking down at your tired body to think, "What on earth happened here? Is this normal? Why do my boobs look so angry? Do maternity pads come in any size other than Extreme, Colossal Boat?"

Whether it's going to the loo for the first time, dealing with the loss of bladder control, managing leaking boobs that look scarily like a botched pair of implants, fearing the act of s-e-x, dealing with an upsetting diagnosis, or coping with boredom gut wrenching guilt ... AFTERWARDS dives into the many unfamiliar pockets of life post birth.

With a wonderful highly qualified team of experts in women's health, midwifery, skincare, sexology and more ... AFTERWARDS is a gentle exploration, a warm and word driven friend a safe place for any and all new Mums to nestle into when they're feeling the fees of the postpartum existence.

Author Bio:

Tori is 31 years old & resides in Perth, WA. She is the mother of Hamish. A happy-go-lucky woman, the birth of Hamish truly opened Tori's eyes up to the pure bliss of life as a mother... but it also introduced her to the wild ride that postpartum life brings. Writing with Australian personnel in the media space for the last decade, AFTERWARDS is Tori's first non-fiction piece. Bringing lightness to life & allowing intelligent, multifaceted women to dive into her books and find effortless support is Tori's primary aim.

It's Raining Cats and Dogs

By Barton Michael
JESSICA KINGSLEY PUBLISHERS

The English language can be extremely confusing and illogical, especially for people with an autism spectrum disorder (ASD) who interpret meaning in a very literal way. Why should an announcement that cats and dogs are falling from the sky indicate heavy rain? And what have chickens got to do with being a coward? It's Raining Cats and Dogs is a witty and stylish insight into the mind of someone with an ASD.
