Our Country

A Pictorial Journey Through Australia

By Australian Geographic

Is there anything more vivid than the Australian landscape? A canvas rich in colour, burnished by intense light and spectacularly varied. Its landscapes both intimate and expansive, and if we train our attention, we see it is full of secret life.

Our Country is a work of imagination, grounded in the most breath-taking of places. As we allow ourselves to be swept away by elemental forces, we are transported from Australia’s lush rainforests to its snowy peaks, red deserts to its aquamarine seas.

A Heritage of Trees

Queensland's Wet Tropics

Rupert Russell, Paul Curtis, Steven Nowakowski
Foreword by John Williamson AM

A Heritage of Trees

Queensland's Wet Tropics

By Rupert Russell & Illust. by Steven Nowakowski

Key Sales Points:

- * Showcases the finest trees in the Wet Tropics of north Queensland.
- * Stunning photography of north Queensland's most iconic trees.
- * Foreword by John Williamson.

In the mid-90s an international book arrived on the market titled "Meetings with Remarkable Trees". Writer Rupert Russell and photographer Paul Curtis were inspired and considered all the remarkable trees they had passed by in their travels around north Queensland's Wet Tropics and contemplated their individual stories of resilience and character. The Wet Tropics is nothing if not trees and all the lifeforms they support. Paul and Rupert travelled far and wide over 3 years visiting known examples and discovering many more. You could say people came out of the woodwork offering advice and information on individual examples of great spirit and in many cases known to very few people.

Three years of walking, climbing, and crawling resulted in quite a library of spectacular examples of dwarves and giants from deep within the wilderness. However, other commitments and financial resources led to a hiatus until in 2018 photographer and publisher Steven Nowakowski re-lit their enthusiasm and offered his assistance and expertise in getting the project moving again. Trees were re-visited and more discovered.

Rupert's wonderful text brings alive the story of encountering each tree and Paul and Steve's photographs capture the sometimes-uncooperative subjects in all their moods and spectacle.

Here, a combination of talents has produced a long overdue book celebrating the nature of north Queensland's Wet Tropics through the age-old inhabitants that have watched as indigenous Australians, explorers, loggers, and bushwalkers passed beneath their limbs – the trees of north Queensland.

Author Bio:

Rupert Russell (writer) previous work includes: - 1976: A lake in the forest. 1980: Spotlight on Possums. 1985: Daintree. Where the rainforest meets the reef 2006: Amongst Trees Paul Curtis (photographer): - Wilderness landscapes have been Paul's passion since he seriously started photography with enthusiasm in the late 1970s and moved to north Queensland in the mid-1980s to pursue his goal of having the best photo library of this part of the world. Paul was attracted to the countryside around Cairns which has everything from pristine, golden beaches devoid of footprints to permanently damp mountain tops with views over unspoiled wilderness, to dry sandstone escarpment country of deep gorges and caves – all within 2 hours drive of his home in Kuranda.

TAKE COVER

How the Spectator Australia fought the culture wars, one battle at a time, in pictures.

Author Bio:

Since 2014, Sarah Dudley has been the covers editor of The Spectator Australia, the sister publication of the Spectator in the UK, the English-speaking world's oldest continuously published magazine. Switching to the medium of film, Sarah Dudley was awarded the Best Director of Australasia for her iconic and ground-breaking Napcan 'Talking baby' commercial, which spawned an entire industry of similar special effects TV ads. As well as creating and designing the covers for The Spectator Australia, Sarah has also written for the publication on a variety of issues. Her razor-sharp, targeted wit is equalled only by her ability with a sword on the fencing piste, having also won gold at the national foil team championships.

Take Cover

How the Spectator Australia Fought the Culture Wars, one battle at a Time

By Sarah Dudley with Foreword by Rowan Dean

Key Sales Points:

- * Includes the award-winning illustrations and written pieces from The Spectator magazine covering the biggest issues and events between the years of 2015 and 2022.
- * An in-depth and entertaining look into the makings of the The Spectator's popular covers from a simple thumbnail sketch all the way to its full colour cover direct from the brilliant mind of author Sarah Dudley.

Publicity:

- * Coverage including articles and interviews with The Spectator Australia. Direct publicity with Rowan's social media with over 33,000 followers on Twitter and Sarah Dudley's The Spectator readership.

Take Cover is a priceless collection of the most provocative and hilarious covers of The Spectator Australia magazine from 2014 to the present day, all of them the brainchild and creation of multi-award-winning creative Sarah Dudley.

From the 'coup de disgrace' of Turnbull overthrowing Abbott through to the dimming of democracy in the USA; from the craziness of climate policies to the madness of identity politics, every topic in the culture wars gets its very own visual battlefield, accompanied by Sarah Dudley's witty and insightful commentary on the issues involved and the creative decisions behind each and every cover.

Fighting the culture wars has never been so enjoyable.

Moons

Gammon-Ross Anna

Moons come, quite literally, in all shapes and sizes. Our Moon is just one of more than 200 moons in the Solar System that we've identified so far. Scientists have discovered moons made of rock, others of ice. There are moons with atmospheres or with oceans hidden beneath their surfaces, and even some with active volcanoes. Others could perhaps be suitable for life! Astronomer Anna Gammon-Ross of Royal Observatory Greenwich travels through the Solar System, hopping from one moon to the next, to discover not only what these natural satellites have in common, but also what makes each one unique. Learn about the moons that can be found in and around Saturn's rings (and the many others we suspect there could be), the objects orbiting the distant dwarf planets and the curious theory of moon-moons.

Aurorae

Lanigan Bryony

People have been inspired by the colourful shifting lights of the Aurora Borealis and Aurora Australis for thousands of years, with modern-day adventurers travelling to aurora hotspots in the hope of getting a glimpse of them. Bryony Lanigan, Astronomer at Royal Observatory Greenwich, brings together many fields of research, from astronomy and solar physics to geology and atomic physics, as she explores the science behind these magical displays. Along the way, we take a whistle-stop tour through the electromagnetic spectrum, learn some elementary atomic physics, meet a mysterious phenomenon with a decidedly un-mysterious name and get to grips with the fundamental role of magnets (very, very large ones) in auroral activity. Lanigan doesn't just stay on Earth, though - she reveals that the spectacle has been observed elsewhere in our Solar System, too! Of course, nothing is simple and aurorae on other planets often confound the explanations we've worked so hard to come up with.

Joe Louis vs. Billy Conn

Gruver Ed

Sports fans had much to occupy themselves with during the memorable summer of '41, including New York Yankees great Joe DiMaggio's record-setting consecutive games hit streak and Boston Red Sox star Ted Williams' dogged pursuit of batting .400. No sports story, however, loomed larger that summer than Joe Louis versus Billy Conn, the hard-hitting heavyweight champion, Detroit's Brown Bomber, battling the stylish and cocky Pittsburgh Kid." Considered one of the greatest matches in boxing history, the fight saw the underdog Conn well ahead on points until Louis knocked him out in the 13th round. Ed Gruver captures the high drama of that sultry night at the Polo Grounds, the brash confidence of the challenger from Pittsburgh, and the quiet dignity of the Black champion Louis, who personified "the memory of every injustice practiced upon his people and the memory of every triumph."

Prostate Cancer and the Man You Love

Supporting and Caring for Your Loved One

By Katz Anne

Presents evidence-based guidance to help partners support their men from diagnosis through survivorship. Prostate Cancer and the Man You Love is fully updated for the women and men who love and support a man with prostate cancer.

Written by an expert in supporting men with prostate cancer and their partners, this book describes the experiences of 12 couples dealing with prostate cancer, from diagnosis through survivorship. Covering the basics of prostate cancer, its treatments and supportive care, and advice about communication between the patient and his partner, the book offers stories of real couples in every chapter. Katz offers evidence-based guidance for the partner, who is challenged in different ways to support the man as he moves from diagnosis to treatment decision making and beyond. She carefully describes the treatment options along with the side effects that affect quality of life and couple satisfaction. Additional topics include cancer recurrence and end of life care.

The book ends with a chapter on selfcare and the need to put on your own oxygen mask before you support your partner. The first edition of the book received the Consumer Book Award from the prestigious Society for Sex Therapy & Research in 2015.

One Rose in Bali

Roots Hilary

Former broadcasting journalist, Kiwi-born author, Hilary Roots went the South Pacific Island for a five-day holiday in 1975. Destiny sowed an unexpected path, scattering it with joys and sorrows. Her life's companion, a Swiss-German scuba-diver and artist, worked hard and enjoyed life. One Rose in Bali is the finale to their decades-long adventure. The story tells itself. It is a cautionary travel tale. Tender, spirited, now and then harsh.

Climate Alarm Reality Check

What You Haven't Been Told

By Urban Andrew L.

Key Sales Points:

* Examines the most consequential topic of our time, climate change, in the words of climate scientists who declare their confidence that 'there is no climate emergency'. * Written and illustrated for easy comprehension, the book offers scientifically proven details to inform the public, the media and policy makers.

Publicity: * National coverage in newspapers with interviews and extracts including The Guardian, The Australian and Spectator Australia, radio including ABC National, TV including Sky News and A Current Affair.

"There is no climate emergency," says CLINTEL, the independent foundation representing over 1,100 scientists from all over the world. Revealing the IPCC's dishonest launch 33 years ago, Climate Alarm Reality Check shows how the political agenda behind the scenario of AWG (anthropological global warming) corrupted any scientific quest that was imagined. Masquerading as 'the science', public dissemination of false statements about extreme weather events and a fiery end to the planet have brought children to tears – needlessly. The author asks: Why were the exaggerated and alarmist claims of the IPCC and misguided activists not scrutinised by either mainstream media or policy makers? Several unfilled predictions of doom resemble medieval fears of revenge of the gods.

Climatenomics

Washington, Wall Street, and the Economic Battle to Save our Planet

By Keefe Bob

The battle against climate change is no longer just an environmental or social issue. As shareholders demand corporations protect assets against climate change and the economic impact of environmental disasters suck billions of dollars out of the economy, capitalism itself has become an ally. The economic impact of climate change is rattling the foundation of our economy at its very core. It's blowing up centuries-old industries from automobiles to oil and gas, creating new opportunities for investors and entrepreneurs. It's costing Americans billions of dollars each year. And most importantly, it's forcing politicians to pass long-overdue policies that will transform our businesses, our lives, and our future like never before. The good news about this economic earthquake is that it just might be the thing that saves our planet.

This is the first book to lay out how climate change has become an economic issue above all and how that has changed everything from the business to politics to the outlook for the future. Bob Keefe, executive director of E2, a national, nonpartisan organization dedicated to providing business perspectives on environmental issues, shows readers how this new reality will impact their industries, businesses, jobs, and communities and transform our country's economy. Climatenomics will be essential reading for anyone who cares about business, politics, or the future of our planet.

Teddy, The Most Beautiful Boy in the World

By Kylie Miller and Illust. by Karen Erasmus

Key Sales Points:

* Teddy, The Most Beautiful Boy in the World explores themes of family, friendship, self-esteem and belonging. It shows children the importance of seeing that beauty is different in everyone and to value their difference. * Teddy's story will appeal to dog owners, including the thousands of Australians who have greyhounds as pets.

Publicity: * National marketing and communications plan, including a focus on greyhound adoption agencies, general pet rescue agencies, greyhound racing clubs and the greyhound industry. * Social media campaign, with information about the book widely distributed via greyhound-themed social media groups. * Regional launch event, supported by a book shop and regional library.

Age Range: 3 years

Teddy, The Most Beautiful Boy in the World is a new children's picture about a greyhound called Teddy who believes he's the most beautiful boy in the world. Then Teddy discovers he has a long, pointy nose, a skinny body, and a bald bum. Can Teddy learn that everyone is beautiful just the way we are? The story explores themes of family, friendship, self-esteem and belonging. It shows children the importance of seeing that everyone is different, beauty is different to everyone and valuing their difference. The story is based on author Kylie Miller's experience with an adopted greyhound called Teddy.

Author Bio:

Kylie Miller is an award-winning journalist and communications consultant. Her first children's picture book, Heroes of Black Summer, co-written by Craig Sheather and illustrated by Karen Erasmus, was published by Australian Geographic in 2021. It tells stories of heroism, courage, resilience, and generosity as the community recovered from the disaster. Kylie has since written a series of children's picture books focusing on greyhounds. Kylie lives by the Gippsland Lakes with her partner, Brett, adopted greyhounds Teddy and Dotty, and a 17-year-old cat called Molly. She has been illustrating for publishers and businesses since 2011.

Being Down and Getting Up

By
Richard Siegersma

Being Down and Getting Up

By Siegersma Richard

Key Sales Points:

* “This charming book should stimulate valuable interactions between parent and child. I love the illustrations.” – Hugh Mackay, social researcher, and bestselling author of The Kindness Revolution.

If you can teach a child how to add and subtract, there is no reason they can't also be taught the benefits of spirituality. Being Down and Getting Up is a book designed to inspire children to look beyond themselves. Children have emotional ups and downs too and recognising them and helping them to find ways to recover and cope should be instilled early on in life.

Creating awareness and encouraging regular application of simple activities such as looking at the stars, listening to music or just simply appreciating and engaging with art can enhance the wellbeing of children and allow them to see the world as a much better place. This book is ideal for people who are keen to nourish the wellbeing of children and adults alike.

Author Bio:

Richard Siegersma was born into a conservative religious migrant family, his parents wanting to provide each of the 7 children with opportunities they thought only Australia could offer. A career in sales, marketing, consulting, and senior leadership roles led to a journey of self-discovery to re-frame the religious constructs that were part of his life. As Executive Director of the Centre for Spirituality, Wellbeing and Health, his objective is to improve the quality of life, build strong communities, create educational resources, and motivate everyone to care more about themselves, others, and the planet.

The Gnomes' Winter Journey

By Kreidolf Ernst

It's the first snow of winter and the forest gnomes set off to visit their mountain cousins to celebrate the coming of the Winter Queen.

On their cold journey the gnomes get help from dancing snow fairies, and a sledge pulled by friendly squirrels.

When the forest gnomes finally arrive at their cousins' icy home there's much fun to be had --snowball fights, tobogganing and a delicious feast with the elegant Winter Queen.

This is a gorgeous new edition of the classic and enchanting winter story first published in 1924.

Swiss artist Ernst Kreidolf's delightful illustrations of magical little folk are reminiscent of Elsa Beskow and Sibylle von Olfers.

Illustrated Legends of Scotland's Kings and Queens

By Breslin Theresa

In this stunning collection, Carnegie-award-winning children's author Theresa Breslin tells captivating tales of ten significant Scottish kings and queens alongside informative historical introductions, all sumptuously illustrated by Liza Tretyakova.

Children will experience history up close -- rescuing the Stone of Destiny with Scotland's first king, Kenneth McAlpin, battling at Bannockburn with Robert the Bruce, making friends with young Mary, Queen of Scots, and braving a would-be assassin with Queen Victoria. Inspired by historical sources and ancient legends, Breslin's stories are by turns thrilling, surprising and heart-warming.

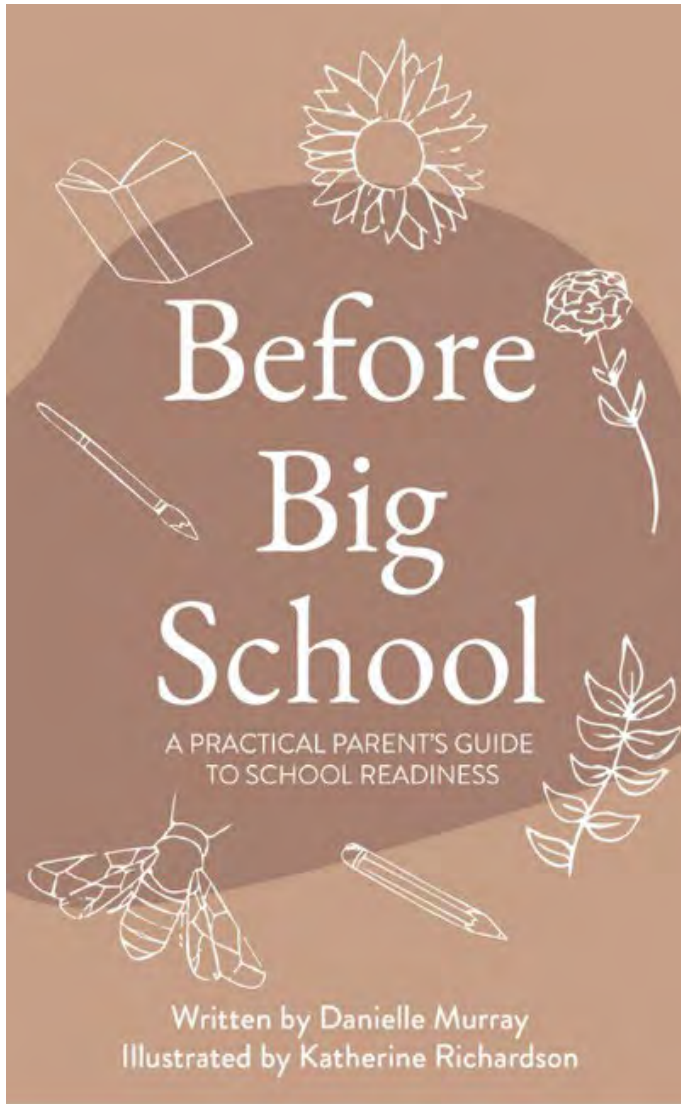

This unique anthology brings to life fascinating, influential characters from the past and offers vivid glimpses of Scotland emerging as a nation.

Illustrated Legends of Scotland's Kings and Queens is a beautiful celebration of Scottish heritage that will be treasured for a lifetime.

Before Big School

A Practical Parent's Guide to School Readiness

By Danielle Murray and Illust. by Katherine Richardson

Key Sales Points:

- * While working as a prep teacher, Danielle often met parents who felt overwhelmed by the start to school and the concept of school readiness.
- * Included at the back is a handy checklist broken into skills for learning, fine and gross motor skills, independence and organisation and social skills. This checklist assists parents to make an informed decision about their child's school readiness.

How will I ensure my child is school ready? After the birth of her son, this was the question that inspired Danielle, a primary school teacher, to bring Before Big School to life. Drawing on her experience and knowledge from the early childhood classroom a practical parent's guide to school readiness was created. Before Big School explores the academic, emotional, and social aspects of school readiness and is filled with practical ideas and activities which can be embedded into your day. With a focus on incidental, meaningful and play-based learning experiences, Before Big School aims to assist parents in preparing their children for school without the use of structured learning- no flashcards or worksheets required. Each chapter focuses on a component of school readiness and delves into the why and how. Academic components include early literacy and numeracy skills, curiosity and play, fine and gross motor skills, and catering to different learning styles. Social and emotional components include managing nerves, independence and organisational skills, social skills and friendships, problem solving and resilience.

Author Bio:

Danielle is a primary school teacher who is passionate about early childhood education. In May 2021, Danielle welcomed her first child into the world. The birth of her son inspired her to write her first book Before Big School as she considered the knowledge and skills, she hoped he'd possess before starting school. Katherine Richardson is a Tasmanian illustrator, author, and freelance journalist.
